The Boston Palestine Film Festival (BPFF) brings Palestine-related cinema, narratives, and culture to New England audiences.

The festival has featured over 300 compelling and thought-provoking films, including documentaries, features, rare early works, video art pieces, and new films by emerging artists and youth. These works from directors around the world have offered refreshingly honest, self-described, and independent views of Palestine and its history, culture, and geographically dispersed society.

Each year, guest filmmakers from various countries and expert commentators add contextual depth to the films. BPFF also offers ancillary cultural programming including concerts by Palestinian musicians and art exhibits by or about Palestinians.

From its sold-out opening events to its jubilant concluding nights, the annual Boston Palestine Film Festival continues to meet with an overwhelmingly positive response. BPFF receives coverage in prominent local media outlets, including The Boston Globe, The Boston Phoenix, The Harvard Crimson, The Harvard Record, The Jewish Advocate, NewEnglandfilm.com, and WBUR (a local affiliate of National Public Radio), to name just a few.

VENUES

Each year, the festival takes place at numerous prestigious and diverse Boston-area venues. Venues in previous years have included:

- Harvard Film Archive
- Harvard University Law School
- Berklee College of Music
- Emerson College
- Northeastern University
- Coolidge Corner Theatre
- Kendall Square Cinema

"If the growth of the Festival since its first year is any indication, the event will be a mainstay in the city for a long time."

- IMAGINE Magazine
